series of resiliencies and reboundings—by backward and then by onward waves of fortune. The ancient table of the wheel of fortune is true to the life of the present as well as of the past. The spokes that were up yesterday are down to-day, and those that are down to-day may be up to-morrow. The men to be envied are those who have strength and patience enough to wait for the turning of the wheel and the tide.

In yesterday's Herald were reported the proceedings at the final meeting of the Dandong Relief Fund Committee, which was held on Monday last. Contributors to the fund will be glad to learn that the subscriptions reached the very respectable total of £1040, which will provide a considerable amount of aid to sufferers by the wreck who reside in Sydney, whilst others living in Victoria have participated in the liberal contributions that were raised in that colony. But a matter of more general and permanent interest was discussed to some extent at the meeting referred to; and it is to be hoped that the suggestions then made will be carried into effect with no more delay than may be required for the fair consideration and arrangement of preliminaries. That matter was the establishment of a permanent fund and the formation of a permanent society for the relief of sufferers by shipwreck. For a movement in this direction there can be no doubt of a large measure of public support. And we believe that, if the promoters of it will only come forward with boldness, and lay their plans upon a comprehensive scale, they will find an institution of national importance, that will grow with the growth of the colony, and never be allowed, for want of public interest, to fall to the ground.

It is remarkable that such an institution has not been established before. With our large ocean trade, and the yearly increasing coasting trade carried by vessels owned in the colony, and worked by men whose wives and families are amongst our own people, it might have been expected that the steps which are now about to be taken would have been taken years ago, and that the operations of an efficient society would have been familiar to all of us. Without inquiring into the causes that have prevented this, it may be observed that the loss of the Dandong, and the numerous minor casualties that occurred at or about the same time upon our coasts, pointed out very clearly the expediency of adopting speedy measures to make good the deficiency. We are not sure that there is any regular official record of the number of wrecks upon the coast of New South Wales annually, or of the number of lives lost by those wrecks, still less of the number who are year after year plunged into sudden distress by the death of heads of families by shipwreck. But it is well-known that not a year passes without casualties of this sort, and their attendant painful results. People read of many of these cases in the papers, and there is an end of the matter. But let a great catastrophe occur, such as the loss of the Dandong, and public sympathy is at once powerfully excited. Let the event be large enough to lay hold of the imagination of the community, and the position of the sufferers is at once understood, and there is seldom a lack of ready assistance. But let some small craft with three or four hands on board be lost through the violence of the very same gale, and, although the few upon whom the blow falls may feel it just as keenly, their case is very apt to be overlooked, because it is hidden beneath the shadow of the greater calamity in the foreground. This is not a satisfactory state of things; but it is almost inevitable in the absence of a permanent organization, through the agency of which public sympathy and liberality might find a means of expressing themselves in a more uniform and more equitable manner. With a well-conducted and well-supported society in active operation, no case of real distress would be likely to suffer neglect by reason of its obscurity; whilst casualties that struck heavily upon the sensibilities of the public would receive prompt attention.

DISTRICT COURTS.—Cause list for Wednesday, 15th December.—Jury Cause: Sun-Kum On v. Harris, part head. Causes: Wheeler v. Johnson, Parrott v. Hayes, Selwyn v. Jones, Smith v. ...
B. W. White, Lawrence v. Jones.

RETURN OF MINISTERS TO SYDNEY.—The Hon. J. La-key, Minister for Works, and the Hon. J. Lucas, Minister for Mines, have both returned to Sydney, and have resumed the duties of their respective offices. The Governor has been accompanied by His Excellency the Governor-General, who has been absent from town to the Hon. A. Stuart, Colonial Treasurer, has exercised supervision over the Work Department. During his absence from Sydney the Hon. J. F. Burns, Postmaster-General, has acted as his locum tenens.

RIVAL SOCIETY.—Yesterday evening a meeting of the Social and Sanitary Science section of the Royal Society was held at the society's rooms, Elizabeth-street. About twenty-five members were present, the Rev. Dr. Bleasdale being introduced as Dr. Roberts occupied the chair. The minutes of the previous meeting were read, and a resolution was passed to present to the Royal Society a report on the Royal Society may with advantage to the community co-operate with the committee of the Agricultural Society in promoting the exhibition of all articles tending to advance sanitary science and improve sanitary appliances." Dr. Belgrave seconded the resolution, and it was carried. A further proposal was made to associate the society to offer a prize for the best exhibits; but after some discussion it was thought that when the resolution already passed was read the notice of the society, that would be the time to propose that a prize should be offered.

SYDNEY INFIRMARY.—Report for the week ended November 11.—Admitted, 28 males, 15 females; total 43. Discharged, 22 males, 11 females; total 33. Died, 5 males, 2 females; total, 7. Remaining, 130 males, 74 females; total, 203. Subscriptions, received, £300 7s. 6d.

THE HORITICK GOLD-FIELDS.—A correspondent writes to the following effect respecting the Royal Society:—Being one of a many that have an interest in the Australia rush that was causing excitement in various portions of New South Wales and Queensland, in view of the fact that the committee had not yet received a communication from the Colonial Secretary, who had not up to the present time nominated a gentleman to act as Parliamentary draftsman. There would be a meeting of that committee to-morrow (Wednesday). The ordinary monthly meeting of the Medical section of the Royal Society was held at the society's rooms in Elizabeth-street, on the evening of Friday, November 10, Mr. Alfred Roberts, in the chair, after a short discussion of some points connected with the regulation of causes of death. A very elaborate paper was read on seirous of the mamma. An interesting discussion followed, after which the proceedings terminated.

PRESENTATION TO SEN-INSPECTOR GARVIN.—On Tuesday, November 7, a testimonial, in the shape of a silver cup, was presented to sub-inspector Garvin on behalf of the residents of Port Macquarie, Kempsey, and the Bellingen, on the occasion of his retirement from the police force. Accompanying the gift was an address, signed by the committee of the testimonial, which attributed the good order and much of the safety of the district to the vigilance and conduct of Mr. Garvin. Mr. Garvin was subsequently entertained at a dinner at the Shamrock Hotel.

COPPER.—Return of copper received at Sydney station for the week ending 11th November:—From Bisbaning, 557 lbs copper, 3 tons 17 cwt. 2 qrs.; Bowring, 110 bags ore, 6 tons 15 cwt. 2 qrs.; Goulburn, 123 bags regius, 11 tons 13 cwt.; total, 21 tons 6 cwt. 2 qrs.

up and keeping alive a healthy local interest, for collecting local contributions, and for aiding in the administration of relief. There is no reason why this idea should not have effect from the very beginning. The foundation of the society should take place in Sydney, and might be followed advantageously, while the subject was before the attention of the public, by concerted efforts in Newcastle, Grafton, Port Stephens, the ports of the south coast, and the larger inland towns also. And if the cause be fairly advocated, it will be a singular event in the history of the colony if the appeal should be received in any case with coldness, and the effort should be made without the reward of encouraging success.

THE LETTER FROM OUR SPECIAL REPORTER AT PHILADELPHIA.—The letter from our special reporter at Philadelphia, published in our issue of yesterday, informs us that "people are just beginning to be raised in that colony. But a matter of more general and permanent interest was discussed to some extent at the meeting referred to; and it is to be hoped that the suggestions then made will be carried into effect with no more delay than may be required for the fair consideration and arrangement of preliminaries. But let some small craft with three or four hands on board be lost through the violence of the very same gale, and, although the few upon whom the blow falls may feel it just as keenly, their case is very apt to be overlooked, because it is hidden beneath the shadow of the greater calamity in the foreground. This is not a satisfactory state of things; but it is almost inevitable in the absence of a permanent organization, through the agency of which public sympathy and liberality might find a means of expressing themselves in a more uniform and more equitable manner. With a well-conducted and well-supported society in active operation, no case of real distress would be likely to suffer neglect by reason of its obscurity; whilst casualties that struck heavily upon the sensibilities of the public would receive prompt attention.

LEONARD'S LITERARY INSTITUTE.—Since the preliminary meeting on the 19th October last, the St. Leonards Literary Institute has made good progress, and now numbers many influential members.

The final business of for nation was concluded on the 3rd instant—the office-bearers being Mr. J. E. Ives (president); Messrs. E. Dowling, N. M. Burney (vice-presidents); Mr. George Wight (hon. secretary); Mr. W. S. G. G. (corresponding); Mr. James Gordon, Mr. W. G. H. A. Langley, Mr. W. Webb, G. Woonough, M. A., and W. Bradley, and Mr. J. E. Ives (treasurer). Two divisions were formed and maintained till off Monksman's Bay, where, seeing that the afternoon was very unpleasing for the smaller boats, the commodore signalled "rendezvous," "salute," and "part company." In pursuance of a kindly invitation from the Kingfisher, substantial refreshments were taken of in the friendly shelter of Monksman's Bay, and the afternoon's trip brought to a close by a pleasant stretch of the larger boats down to George's Head with a cool and breezy.

A SUFFICIENT FENCE.—At the Court of Requests held at Yass, before Mr. Yates, P.M., Dr. St. John, and Mr. Hall, in the case of Roswell v. Hain, the question was raised whether the fence in question was sufficient to keep out cattle. It transpired in evidence (says the Courier), that on the 27th of September last the defendant, John Hain, impounded four bullocks belonging to the plaintiff, Henry Roswell, which he found depauperating in his paddock at Barber's Creek. He charged 7s. 6d. per poundage and other fees. The plaintiff paid the money, released the cattle, and went into Court to recover the amount so paid, on the ground that the fence was not sufficiently fenced. Mr. Wilkinson proved that the fence was 25 ft. high, and consequently not sufficient to keep cattle from trespassing. Mr. Ieston, for defendant, contended that as the said fence kept in the cattle of his client, and kept out those of a neighbour from trespassing, no better evidence could be given of the sufficiency of the fence. The magistrates, however, held that fence only 25 inches high were not sufficient within the meaning of the Act, and ordered the defendant to refund the money, and pay the costs of the day.

CARLTON USE OF MATCHES.—A melancholy accident occurred at the feet of Goonda on the 9th instant, in the Carlton (over) in consequence of the explosion of a box of matches. From what we have been enabled to gather, it appears that Miss Meredith, a young lady, engaged in a schoolroom at Ipswich, was sitting near a party of smokers, when one of them, after lighting his pipe, threw away the match, which alighted on Miss Meredith's dress. The light material instantly took fire and wrapped the unfortunate girl in flames. Several gentlemen rushed to her assistance, and succeeded in extinguishing the flames. Miss Meredith was taken to the hospital at Ipswich, where she now lies in a precarious state. (We learn by telegram that Miss Meredith is dead.)

THE BOTANIC GARDENS.—A correspondent desires, through our columns, to call the attention of the proper authorities to the desirability of extending the time during which visitors may remain in the Botanic Gardens during the winter months. The hours following the time of closing, 6 p.m., is the most favourable one of the day, and many would take advantage of it who are now compelled by the regulation, which in extreme of observance equals the Mede and Persian, to quit at or before the time of closing.

CATASTROPS.—Several cases have recently come under notice of injuries done either to persons or property by mischievous boys armed with catapults. Yesterday afternoon, a gentleman, while walking along Macquarie-street, received a severe blow from a missile propelled by this means. Fortunately, the boy, who was 12 years of age, had alighted on the nose or the eye, and the boy might have been serious. It is to be hoped that he will keep a vigilant look-out for offenders of this kind.

SEVERORS CONSEQUENCE OF THROWING STONES.—About 5 o'clock on Monday evening a boy named George Whalley, aged 5 years, residing at North Shore, was playing with some other boys, when one of them picked up a stone and struck him with it over the left eye, causing a severe gash and a fracture of the skull. The boy, who is very ill, was attended to at the Sydney Infirmary by Dr. Frean, who was desirous that he should remain in the institution, but the father and mother preferred to take him home.

SEVERORS THROUGH FALLING DOWN STAIRS.—About noon yesterday George Manders, at Mrs. St. John's, at Broughton-street, Glebe, and in the employ of Mr. St. John, at Broughton-street, fell downstairs at Mr. Gatten's, and received a fracture of the arm, a sprained right arm, and a cut over the right eye, an inch and a half long. He was conveyed to the Infirmary, and admitted.

DEATHS IN THE INFIRMARY.—About 7 o'clock on Monday morning constable McNamee found a woman named Jane Gallagher ill, and destitute on Wright's Wharf, and removed her to the Infirmary, where she died at 7 o'clock yesterday morning. She had been for years past of vagrant habits, addicted to drink. On admission into the Infirmary she had a compound fracture of one leg, and although she had received a fatal blow to the head, she had besides received fatal injuries to the spine. The injuries are understood to have been caused by a fall upon him of some goods, which were being raised for his dry. The master has been reported to the City Coroner.

THE HORITICK GOLD-FIELDS.—A correspondent writes to the following effect respecting the Royal Society:—Being one of a many that have an interest in the Australia rush that was causing excitement in various portions of New South Wales and Queensland, in view of the fact that the committee had not yet received a communication from the Colonial Secretary, who had not up to the present time nominated a gentleman to act as Parliamentary draftsman. There would be a meeting of that committee to-morrow (Wednesday). The ordinary monthly meeting of the Medical section of the Royal Society was held at the society's rooms in Elizabeth-street, on the evening of Friday, November 10, Mr. Alfred Roberts, in the chair, after a short discussion of some points connected with the regulation of causes of death. A very elaborate paper was read on seirous of the mamma. An interesting discussion followed, after which the proceedings terminated.

PRESENTATION TO SEN-INSPECTOR GARVIN.—On Tuesday, November 7, a testimonial, in the shape of a silver cup, was presented to sub-inspector Garvin on behalf of the residents of Port Macquarie, Kempsey, and the Bellingen, on the occasion of his retirement from the police force. Accompanying the gift was an address, signed by the committee of the testimonial, which attributed the good order and much of the safety of the district to the vigilance and conduct of Mr. Garvin. Mr. Garvin was subsequently entertained at a dinner at the Shamrock Hotel.

COPPER.—Return of copper received at Sydney station for the week ending 11th November:—From Bisbaning, 557 lbs copper, 3 tons 17 cwt. 2 qrs.; Bowring, 110 bags ore, 6 tons 15 cwt. 2 qrs.; Goulburn, 123 bags regius, 11 tons 13 cwt.; total, 21 tons 6 cwt. 2 qrs.

THE TELEGRAMS FROM EUROPE.—Our telegrams from Europe, published this morning are highly interesting. They reach us from Berlin, but London dates are not given. There is certainly a doubt as to whether the occurrences are given in correct chronological order, and it may be that the acceptance of a "renewal of the armistice" between Russia and the Porte, referred to in the telegram dated October 30, is the sequel to the ultimatum of Russia, which appears under date November 1. This will turn out to be the case, and so the more hopeful colouring to the news of "favourable negotiations" being once more entered upon.

BOURKE-STREET CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.—A special service and concert was given last evening in the Bourke-street Congregational Church, in aid of the Chinese Relief Fund. There was a good attendance. There were some seventeen selections on the programme, which, generally speaking, were very well sung. Some of the selections were from Sankey and Bliss's collection, while others were judiciously chosen anthems, rendered by a good chorus. Miss Alderson was the accompanist, and Mr. W. J. B. Mote the conductor.

SCOTT'S CHURCH, CHURCH HILL.—A special service and concert was given last evening in the Scott's Church, Church Hill, in aid of the Chinese Relief Fund. There was a good attendance.

SCIENTIFIC TREATMENT OF MINERAL ORES.—A reference to the books of registration of patents taken out by colonists suggests the idea of a system of mining rights or leases of land. Royalties could be most profitably spent in dealing with those patents which are connected with the scientific developments of our mineral wealth. Of course, it must be avowed that the merit of an invention is the cheapness in its application, and as far as possible the obtaining certainty in the results. Our attention has lately been called to a patent which has been taken out by Messrs. Qwest and Leigh, of Sydney, for the manipulation of mineral ores, particularly gold and silver. Seven sailing vessels were sent to the Gold-fields in Australia, and the results were most encouraging in money, in tonnage of ore, and in the amount of gold and silver obtained.

Watson, Brothers, and Mr. John Allen, prize-takers at the Philadelphia Exhibition; the former first prize for the ornamental silver, and the latter for wool. Mr. James Gordon, the chairman, proposed the healths of Messrs. Watson and Allen, coupled with the farmers of the district and Mr. James Fiddian, the miller. Mr. Watson replied on behalf of Mr. Allen and self; he said he had never spared trouble or expense in manufacturing first-class flour, but he was to a great extent dependent upon the splendid wheat which the district produced. Mr. Allen had hitherto been the foremost of their district farmers in improving his breed of sheep, and in future Mr. Allen purposed bestowing still more care and attention upon them.

Jupp and Churwood bat splendidly. Whirridge and Goodfellow will commence bowling for the South Australian. It is expected that only small scores will be made on both sides, owing to the ground.
